

Endeavour

Structure Solution from Powder Diffraction

Endeavour is designed for the solution of crystal structures from powder diffraction data. Its innovative concept implies a combined global optimization of the difference between the calculated and measured diffraction pattern and of the potential energy of the system. Endeavour closes the remaining gap in the process of structure solution from powder diffraction data.